attended by about 20 people When the service was over, we all went downstairs and participated in the covered-dish dinner, which was very good. We took a large bag of salad greens (spinach, radishes, mushrooms, zucchini slices, parsley); Alice & Norman supplied a large quantity of "shake & bake" Chicken. Several bowls of delicious potato salad & one very delicious bowl of macaroni & cheese. We made the final plan for the Reunion/Pioneer Day, which will be on 8/25/85. Alice's special pianist from Starucca will perform for the Church service & for the historical program. Alice supplied me with a mailing list of about 40 names — some of them are on the Grinnell mailing list, but most are not. At 1 P.M. we took our leave & drove to Elmhurst, where I was Master of Ceremonies for the Crystal Band's final summer concert. The steamtown train was arriving in Elmhurst just as we were. We saw the tail end of the train: smoke in the sky. Another change of clothes: this time by the entrance to Saint Mary's Villa, where the concert was held. What an unusual audience! Most were in wheel chair and many had serious physical or mental handicaps. Many inhibit their own private worries and are completely unaware of the existence of "nous autres". Many were completely "child-like", as Kate Rokko would say. Two or three of them applauded more or less continually; two or three member of the audience (exclusively women) "conducted" very animatedly from their wheel chair. Everyone had a grand time. Most were in an ecstatic state during most of the concert and that gave me a great deal of pleasure. One dear lady wanted to be as near as possible to the musicians/musici and so she went up and sat with them. A Neo-Nazi mother/supervisor at the Nursing Home went up, bluntly, & grabbed her. No management of the Home appear to be very callous and insensitive. all I could say to myself from then on, for the rest of the day was "carpe diem" —
